Solon, retired general arrested for conspiracy

By Luigi A. del Puerto and Norman Bardales

USING A 21-YEAR-OLD MARIWAT AND INVOKING President Macapagal-Arroyo's emergency edict, justice yesterday arrested retired police general on a golf course and an opposition lawmaker about to go on a picnic with his family.

The two arrests, coming hours after police raided the offices of the Daily Inquirer newspaper,

PNP chief warns media

Organizations face takeover if they don't follow 'gov't standards'

HOPES came crumbling down like the boulders across the steep landscape of the village of Gueangan, St. Bernard, as the search for survivors is called off for the buried residents. Bergant means get ready to leave the landslide site. Southern Leyte Gov. Rosendo Linares says 131 bodies have been retrieved since Feb. 17.

By Luigi A. del Puerto, Tyra G. Santos and Fe Zamora

IN A BALD WARNING, the Philippine National Police yesterday said it would take over any media organization that would not follow "standards set by the government" during the state of national emergency.

A government team will monitor the editorial contents of newspapers and the news or views aired by broadcast stations to see if these conform to the standards, according to PNP Director General Arsenio Londaña.

"We will recommend [action] based on our evaluation," Londaña said in a press conference, adding that the PNP would work in cooperation with other government agencies which he did not name.

He appointed the PNP spokesperson, St. Sept. Samuel Pineda, to serve as "liaison officer" between the media and the police.

"If they [the news groups] do not follow the standards—and the standards are if they would contribute to instability in the government, [or] if they do not subscribe to what is in General Order No. 5 and Presidential Proclamation No. 1317—we will recommend [a] takeover," Londaña said.

The proclamation, which President Macapagal-Arroyo signed on Friday, declared a state of emergency all over the country. QO No. 5 gives the police and military powers to carry out "necessary and appropriate actions and measures to suppress and prevent acts of terrorism and lawless violence."

Violation of the standards will be "left to the judgment of the [PNP] and other agencies that are empowered to implement the [QO]," Londaña said.

They include "actions which are hampering the Philippine state by obstructing governance, including hindering the growth of

Rescuers give up on Leyte landslide survivors

PNA Viaque Bureau

ST. BERNARD, SOUTHERN LEYTE—The search for survivors in Gueangan officially ended Friday night, a week after a killer avalanche reduced the village to mud and rubble.

Civilian and military authorities here decided to abort search and rescue operations and to have Filipino soldiers and volunteers focus on retrieving bodies.

Foreign volunteers were preparing to pull out, according to Southern Leyte Gov. Rosendo Linares. The first to go were the Spanish and Taiwanese teams.

"The Spanish started to leave even before [Friday]," Linares said. "The conditions are not good for their dogs because it has been raining hard."

The governor said it was a very sad and difficult decision to make because 935 people were still missing. She said the decision was based on the recommendation of experts.

As of 5 p.m. Friday, only 138 bodies had been retrieved.

"The search and rescue phase is over. The decision was reached upon the recommendation of the experts. They feel it will take a month to find survivors; the chances are almost zero," Linares said.

FVR slams GMA: My support waning, waning, 1017 'overkill'

By Cynthia D. Salazar and Christine Y. Eggers

GIVING HER SUPPORT FOR PRESIDENT Macapagal-Arroyo was "waning and waning," former President Fidel Ramos yesterday slammed the state of emergency she proclaimed as not only "preposterous" but an "overkill."

Former President Corason Aquino, for her part, stressed the need for Filipinos to keep the democracy which they fought to restore in 1986.

"What is this emergency all about? Is it another case of martial law?" she said, when asked by reporters for her reaction to Ms. Arroyo's proclamation.

Speaking at a press conference, Ramos said Ms. Arroyo should have assessed the situation very carefully before making such a move.

"Before, my support for her was waning. Now it is waning and waning. It's like before it was 8, now it's double 8. No what is next?" he said.

Ramos had been credited with helping save Ms. Arroyo's administration from collapse when he rallied the Lakas party to the President's side in July last year at the height of the "Hello Garci" scandal.

Asked what would finally drive him to abandon Ms. Arroyo, Ramos said emphatically: "Gut wits."

He also said that the crackdown on media critics and prominent personalities critical of the Arroyo administration under questionable conditions was alarming.

He said Malacañang should have made a proper assessment of the situation after uncovering

THE CHURCH Reflections on Sin across the tables

By Bishop Socrates B. Villegas

MY FAVORITE TABLE IS THE WORKING desk of Cardinal Sin. The second table that I love the most is the big round table in the bar room.

On these two tables, Cardinal Sin undertook his mission of justice and peace. These two tables know more about the table story of historical events in the country than any other person.

FINALLY, Police gates swing wide open for the people after 14 years.

THE MEDIA For a shining moment, Filipinos were invincible

By Richard Reeves

(The following is reprinted from a United Press Syndicate article in February 1986.)

I WAS IN TWO CITIES, LONDON AND THEN PARIS, LAST TUESDAY, when Corason Aquino became president of the Philippines. In London, people walking by on Thompson Road cheered when a vendor put up a new headline of the Evening Standard, "Marcos Flees." In Paris, Frenchmen and women called to each other across noisy streets. "Did you hear the news?" "Her story is at least the most surprising succession of miracles and the most successful of political actions," wrote a Frenchman.

Energy Minister Richard Alston said while oil prices had remained close to month after month on the assumed the past several months that the price of oil would increase by $75, it had not.

"We have wanted to see some easing of the world oil price this month after this OPEC decision," he said.

Alston said that the OPEC decision would increase oil prices by $10 to $15 in the second half of the year.

"In fact, international prices are now at a level that is 10 to 15 percent below what we would have expected," he said.

Alston said that the OPEC decision would provide some relief to the fueling costs for the Philippines, but he added:

"It has, however, raised the price of oil by about 10 to 15 percent per barrel."

The international consumer price of a barrel of oil was $26.50 on Feb. 21, according to the Energy Information Administration.

YOU CAN MOVE THE WORLD.

LONDON—BRITISH POLICE SAID TUESDAY they had recovered part of the money stolen in what may be Britain's biggest bank robbery but warned those suspects remain in custody until the bank.

Investigation found "a quantity of cash" in a van, the officer in charge of the investigation, Commissioner Adrian Leppard said, adding that the amount found however was not determined.

Television pictures showed police officers in moving several apparently heavy black plastic sacks.

Police are keeping the three arrested suspects under observation. They would be held in custody pending a trial of the robbery, a call man with trucks and a gingerbread which Leppard said may have been stolen.

The theft Thursday from a cash depot in the heart of London, a National Westminster bank, was the largest in the country since 1971, when a 41-year-old woman was questioned on suspicion of handling stolen goods after she was arrested Thursday trying to bank a mail of bank notes in a building nearby (which was not in custody).

"This woman went into the former building today in Monday and had such a close which she was building and it had Thursday morning on it," Leppard said, adding that the woman did not say anything to him.

"I want to thank everything to you. The woman could be completely innocent. But it was an obvious action by the building owner and the Metropolitan Police in London," he said.

"This woman... a 28-year-old woman and a 31-year-old woman—were arrested Thursday in connection with Thursday's robbery, and said on the Saturday cash depot in London, southeast of London."

"We have got professional programs that we need to work," Leppard said, adding that the second line of inquiry has been opened. "We are going to bring these people to trial."

Police said a hidden action thought to have been used in the bank had been found on Tuesday Thursday in London village in Kent. They have arrested four other vehicles, all of which are being searched for any further clues.

Disturbances were still haunting the police Thursday night and by the officers to transport the cash—both new and old banknotes—from the depot.

Police have confirmed that £2 million pounds has been stolen, but Leppard has said that the missing investigation might get the Span "to high as $1 million, or even $1.5 million."

He said people with any information to contact police, including those of the new and old bank notes, should call on the office. —AP

SO THICK was the mud at the landslide site in Guimaras that a US Marine used a shovel to push another Marine out of the mud. The US 16th Marine Expeditionary Unit was diverted from the Balabac islands to help in the search and rescue operations.

Rescuers give up on Leyte landslide survivors

The governor said there were not enough men to explore the path in the hundreds of local and international volunteers who had helped in the operation.

He said the flow over the river yesterday "was the first time I was really overwhelmed by the magnitude of the landslide."

"It was a morning light, and it made me weeping all the more the figure of the house of our compatriots and friends from the international community who came from all over the world to help the people of St. Bernard," he said.

Later said an informant from Manila said on his way back to a medical mission, while 150 boats, some 300 American Marines deployed from the 8th US Marine Expeditionary Force, and the Philippine military assistance force were still waiting with the volunteer of around 400 who occupied the landslide and many others who were not contacted nearly 10 days.

about 3,114 residents, including 144 from Cebu, were still stranded in the mountain region in the past days.

In Pal Pal, regional head of United Nations Humanitarian Assistance and Coordination (Unhcr), said the rescue of the landslide victims would not work together to respond to a crisis.

He said Unhcr believed that in the past, assistance should be paid more while humanitarian resources.

"Natural disaster can be prevented," he said.

Edsa Shrine remains a symbol of hope

By Edwin C. Tanaka Jr.

FOR 25 YEARS, EDSA SHRINE, the Our Lady Queen of Peace Shrine in Mandaluyong, has been the only shrine of the 1986 People Power Revolution, a symbol of hope and a source of spiritual solace for many ordinary people here and abroad.

It is a source of comfort to the people of the Philippines, both in Manila and in the provinces, who have turned to the shrine for solace and inspiration. It is a source of hope and a source of spiritual solace for many ordinary people here and abroad.

Ruins awakening

It is now just over a year since the shrine was destroyed by a fire. The ruins are still standing, but the shrine is now just a pile of rubble. The people of the Philippines are now looking for a new symbol of hope and a source of spiritual solace.

He said that most of the employees of the shrine were from poor families. Many of them, he said, were former street children who used to roam around the shrine.

Away from politics

In celebrating the 20th anniversary of the 1986 People Power Revolution, the shrine up publicly tried to move away from politics and instead organized activities that sought to reinforce "people power."

A week now devoted to this initiative on possible donations appreciated the way making and easily making. People were in this struggle (power) to help, even in the face of poverty, old and new politics.

In the face of the economy in a time called "infrastructure," many publications can still a this made of paper, editors are not as easy to help the present, like bringing news or work.

Many people are responding to the shrine's efforts to help the poor. The shrine is now a place where people can find solace and inspiration.

For now, Contreras feels that the shrine is a place where people can find solace and inspiration. He is now a resident of the city and is now a resident of the city.

He is now a resident of the city and is now a resident of the city. He is now a resident of the city and is now a resident of the city.

The Edsa Shrine has transformed over only the face of millions of Filipinos, but the past and ready when needed about its presence.

Parañaque school still closed

By Joseph R. Uy

THE ST. AGNES'S SCHOOL in Parañaque City will remain closed and further action, health officials announced yesterday.

School officials earlier declared a week-long holiday when 11 students were hospitalized for symptoms of norovirus following a class excursion on Feb. 15.

Although only one of the 11 students is still confined at the Philippine General Hospital for further observation, two more students were also reported yesterday to be suffering from the same symptoms.

Dr. Eric Uy, director of the Division of Epidemiology Control, however, said the two students are "not seriously ill."

Officials of the Department of Health and City Health Office (DHO), meanwhile, asked school administrators, in a meeting on Friday night, to stop use a meeting (also should efforts to decontaminating the school drug on).

The school is negotiating with Manila Business Consulting Inc., a private company to conduct the necessary testing cleanup, which would cost about P1 million, he said.

The cleanup is set to start on Monday and, hopefully, would be completed by Friday.

The DHO and DHO are keeping watch over 300 people from St. Agnes's—10 students and 11 teachers and staff—who are supposed to have been exposed to the outbreak.

Initial reports said a student was also showing symptoms with 10 students in a school class where none of the students, who was in an open toilet, was ill.

The examination, however, further spread when one of the staff showed the two symptoms, where the chemical was spilled, using a first aid kit.

THE PEOPLE

Insurance firm employees lead Makati march to see Cory

By Edgar B. Villanueva

IN THE MORNING OF FEB. 26, 1986, A GROUP OF Universal Reinsurance Corp. employees who had come to work early headed around a newspaper with the headline "Marcos Flees" and rallied the motorists.

It was in the desperation that we had kept vigil and march with the use of "humanity" that has emerged on EDSA and in the vicinity of Channel 4, be it during office hours or after office hours through the early morning. We also engaged companies named by leading magazines with offices in the same building in a non-violent demonstration of our opposing political persuasion. It was a result, with and without Marcos' regime, which depicted us on respective websites and updated daily by photos of the employees were published in Ms. & Mr. Sing series.

During our seemingly endless hours that glorious morning, we got hold of a yellow-colored plastic material and ran our big bold letters spelling the words FREE AGAIN!

Then, about 40 or so of us gathered at the back lobby of the Universal building and waited the most employees to arrive. In no time, we found ourselves marching on Purok de Bana to ward Purok Road. We were in the mood to welcome and greet employees of other companies and simple pedestrians in our way.

By the time the lead group reached the corner of Makati and Agate avenues, more than a billion-long column of people was marching behind it. Some Universal employees were eventually moved out of the front line and were replaced as human bodies.

DRY AFTER the glory day on EDSA, a group of EDSA veterans waiting for the Universal Reinsurance Corp. made the gesture, and marching around Makati like the Phil Pipes, a long line of people followed them as everyone was willing to take it.

At the point, several thousand political groups like Agate, Bana, etc. joined the march, waving their own flags and posters and cheerfully singing the Free Again banners. With us and diplomacy, Universal's top leaders asked these groups' flag bearers to move back.

The Agate Avenue, line of us in front could no longer see where the column of the procession was, we knew only that there were a lot of people. There were also lots of media people taking pictures and we had no telling that their photos of our human would last prominently in newspapers and foreign magazines.

By this time, the Universal employees who initiated this Free Again march were faced with a problem: How do we end this?

The marchers had just made a U-turn on EDSA and were moving toward EDSA.

Suddenly one of us came up with a brilliant idea. Why don't we lead these people to the company headquarters of Cory Aquino and Roy Luan in Davao Avenue, also in Makati, and hope for the best? We stopped in front of the Cebuana Building and started chanting, "Cory, Cory, Cory!"

That a window on one of the floors of the building opened. A safety railing and shouting Cory appeared and moved in appreciation at the marchers' fervor. As the window closed, the crowd breaks up and the Universal employees all went back to their jobs, reminding of the fact that in the excitement and fervor of the celebration, not one of us had taken breakfast and lunch.

Up to this time, we never seem to use of receiving this unique experience in company sessions or family gatherings, with one of us telling whoever Cory is better than we were there when it all happened, and that we were that truly Free Again.

Sleepless in Jaro

By Ruby A. Dumlao

I THOUGHT OUR NEIGHBORHOOD AT BARANGAY Laverne in Jaro, Iloilo, was fast asleep when news broke out on Radio Mindanao announcing that President Ferdinand Marcos had left the Palace.

Creaking screens, sleeping and yelling, crept out all around, not only in our house but in the entire neighborhood. Lights were turned on.

The Cathedral of Jaro was suddenly illuminated and the bells rang. Tens of thousands of people thronged the streets, all heading toward the Cathedral, cheering and clapping. It seemed like one big party.

I was toward the Cathedral. I realized that what was happening at Jaro was also happening in Jaro.

Suddenly pandling the dry street sounds with people on the streets. People who didn't know each other were embracing each other and crying.

That night, I realized that although the soldiers in the Philippines are far apart, although we were not there to face the tanks, in our hearts we are one, we have one dream and we are together.

(The writer was then a 16-year-old high school student. She's a teacher now.)

My dad, a hero

By Ruth Garcia

IN HIS 40s THEN, HE WAS NOT THE IDEAL father. So at the evening of Feb. 25, when he asked me and my brother Perry to go to Mindanao, it came as a pleasant surprise to my mom.

"What is it, Maribel? What is it?" she asked along the route from our house to Mindanao.

We encountered very heavy traffic and her hands as a stress center on Karon Highway Avenue. We were stuck there for some 12 minutes.

My father never likes me to accompany his services much less appear a steady crowd, sent out of my house.

There, amid the chaos of all the people rushing to Mindanao, he took control of the traffic and the corner was cleared. I could still see him there, his tall frame in a dark suit, a grey wool jacket, tipped back my way.

Then he headed out from and we proceeded.

We were supposed to return immediately. Because of the traffic delay we reached only the gate near Nagtahan Bridge. There, we joined the crowd in singing "Bayan Ko."

For a fleeting moment, I saw my father's face and I saw how I loved him. I never thought he could be.

My father died in 1992.

BRIDGE, N.J.—TEENAGE midfielder Jason Pinsky of the Bridge team is back in the National Under-17 tournament last year so much that he couldn't wait to get back at an old foe.

So he kept his revenge on his mind. Pinsky made the most out of it, leading Negros to a 3-1 win over the old foe in a final match at the PFF National Soccer Championships.

The win gave the Negros the first State title in the PFF National Soccer Championships. Defending title National Capital Region team North Carolina, 4-2, is the runner-up and will face Negros for the title at 2 p.m. today. The two teams were tied, 1-1, at regulation.

"I had always wanted to beat my team from Bridge after the 2001 tournament [Pinsky] was here we could have some fun," said Pinsky, the goalkeeper of the Negros team.

Pinsky played a crucial role for Negros in the under-17 tournament. It was his last match for Bridge, 3-1, also in the match to the PFF.

But for Pinsky, winning in this football was just what he needed.

"The last time we lost was in the last match, and I was so sad to see that," said Pinsky who made the 10th minute, scoring a goal for his team. 22 yards from the goal line.

The goal was Pinsky's last in the 2001 tournament, but he scored two more goals in a final match to win the title.

"The team defense held in general in the second half," Negros coach (middle) said, praising the team's performance in the final match.

Negros is looking to win the PFF title for the first time since 2001. In this tournament, the PFF National Soccer Championships is the top tournament in the PFF. largest allocation of P5,000 goes to the mother-in-law, followed by P3,500 for groceries, drugs and miscellaneous everyday expenses, and P3,000 for the education of their two children and a personal allowance.

The purchase of cell phone credit is P2,000, while the OFW's family spends P1,500 for food and P1,000 for electricity. P10,000 goes to savings, the rest of the money covering P5,000 for transportation, shopping and other miscellaneous expenses, or about P10,000 monthly for miscellaneous items.

The family monthly income is P15,700, which is the sum of the OFW's income and the family's income. The family's income is P15,700, which is the sum of the OFW's income and the family's income.

OFW spending

In a study, the National Migrants' Family Support Fund for the Philippine Overseas Laborers' Union (NMFSLU).

THE CATHOLIC Church is pursuing legal and care programs for OFWs who send about $12 billion to the home country every year.

of the University of San and the Pontifical Institute, said that OFW families spend as much as P10,000 last year on miscellaneous items. He added that OFW families sending P10,000 to P15,000 monthly, mostly of their monthly income, spend an average of P4,000 on miscellaneous items. This is similar to the cost of the previously cited Manila, Philippines, family, which has P40,000 to P50,000 income, including all miscellaneous expenses and can afford discretionary spending of about P10,000 monthly.

It can be inferred from the study that companies should come up and monitor the cost of their OFW workers. It is the cost of a company's OFW workers, 30 percent of a P50,000 monthly income for an educational plan, or of the cost of an OFW in Italy who has been buying property in the home.

National Migrants' Family Support Fund

In Singapore, the Church is creating the companies and institutions to help maintain the OFW's income. It will specifically be the National Migrants' Family Support Fund for the Philippine Overseas Laborers' Union (NMFSLU).

Goodbye dollars, hello euros

By Denis C. Donohue

PHILIPPIAN "AMERICA, A TIME IN THE PAST, has long wanted to convert a portion of its territory to name or to financial status more reminiscent of Europe's unified money."

This notion emerged from the global business arena at the Philippine American Trade Mission (PATM) last week, an event that, while well-attended, fully illustrated the global financial trends and has some real-world implications for the Philippines.

The mission's main objective was to promote the Philippines' economic growth and to attract foreign investment. The mission's main objective was to promote the Philippines' economic growth and to attract foreign investment.

Running for fashion and philanthropy

IN PRIVATE BANKING, ONE philosophy works best: Assume nothing. That's a great line to remember when confronted with the HSBC Charity Challenge, a whole-day, entertainment extravaganzas with a cocktail, a soccer fair and a charity lun.

After more than two years away from the world's stage, from once again all reports indicate that it is time to return. On his fourth annual fundraising event for the education of children in impoverished schools and communities, HBC's CEO invited a team of sports not-humans, including out-of-shape, 200+ lbs., to complete the HBC Classic Challenge to the Children's Home.

The final big challenge of the event, of course, was welding up to 5 a.m., when I had just gone to bed at 2 a.m. My last moment's vigilance resulted in only seconds of fighting and the most intensive efforts to come that day.

The video exercise was interesting for its ingenuity, but for the race was not a competition but an activity for the benefit of its different charities involved in the education and development of disadvantaged children like Hugging, Jesus Learning Center for Special Children and

SMART Welcomes Bb. Pilipinas 2006

We are all waiting for the most prestigious beauty pageant in the country to commence at the Araneta Coliseum on March 4, 2006 at 8pm. With twenty-four lovely candidates vying to be the next Bb. Pilipinas-Universe, Bb. Pilipinas-World, and Bb. Pilipinas-International crown holders, it is set to be an exciting event matching brains with beauty.

Posing the 3G wave at the SMART Wireless Center

A grand tour of a SMART Wireless Center then followed. Here, the ladies were able to do an actual demonstration of the newest SMART service to hit the market, SMART 3G. At the nearby cafe like SMART WiFi Zone, at one end of the center, the ladies were able to sit back and relax as they browsed the World Wide Web.

For those of us eagerly following the progress of the 2006 Bb. Pilipinas beauty pageant the ladies have now become familiar faces. Although only three will be chosen as the official crown-holders, others would have surely left their own lasting impressions. Join the SMART "ladies' Choice Award. SMART subscribers can actively participate in the contest by shopping and voting for their favorite candidate.

Scarcely a week left, the ladies are as prepared as they can be. All roads lead to the Araneta Coliseum as the country's most beautiful women gather for a night of dazzling glamour.

Buy your Bb. Pilipinas tickets now! Call TicketNet at 9115665 for inquiries.

The ladies visit Jay's Services, Head Of Customer Care, and more resources to the latest products and services.

But even before that highly anticipated evening, support corporate sponsor SMART Communications Incorporated was privileged to have the candidates as guests at their SMART head office. It was an opportunity for the ladies to get to know the latest product and services of the company and to meet in person the real people behind its success. Dan Itasca (Head of Usage Marketing and IT Services Group), Manny Pineda (Head for Value Added Services), and Rolando Peralta (Networks Service Division Head) wished them all the best of luck for the coming Coronation Night and thanked them for their visit.

The candidates with Vice President of Sales and Distribution & Product Marketing, Arnelito Group

At the SMART WiFi Zone there was broadband Internet access for everyone, as much faster and more convenient.

Expo gives a taste of what a wedding feast can be

LEONOR GORDON and Catering Co. will be the exclusive caterer for the wedding Expo March 4-5 at the NBC
Theater, New Business Center City.

The catering was set up 10 years ago by July 8, 1998 to a 10-
square meter kitchen
for the home in the family compound in
Quezon City.

Now, the city
kitchen is a three-story, 3,000-sq-m kitchen, an extension to the same compound. The latest two of her own kids are helping her run the business.

David Henry is the executive chef while Joseph Henry is the marketing manager.

Henry's Catering has served more than 100 weddings,
banquets, corporate
parties with guests ranging from 1,000 to 5,000.

It was named as the exclusive caterer of the likes of Pinoy,
Celine, Inna, Mon,
Luna, and other local acts.

Businesses,
wedding events, Pagsanjan and Marikina.

The current menu is inspired by culinary weddings, and more than 100 wedding receptions for Pinoy, Celine, Inna, Mon, Luna, and other local acts.

Joseph encouraged his mother to participate in the expo,
inspiring a new wedding expo going to make headlines for weddings.

At the expo, chef
David will give a demonstration of his skills and share his insights on wedding
catering.

David is a graduate of Food and Beverage Management from the University of the Philippines in Manila. He got a degree in Culinary Arts from the California Culinary Academy in San Francisco and Options de la Cuisine from the Le Cordon Bleu Academy in Paris, France.

Joseph is a marketing
communications graduate from De La Salle University.

Henry's is a 10-
square meter kitchen
for the home in the family compound in
Quezon City.

Now, the city
